REQUIRED TEXT:

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course provides a unique opportunity to explore food and cultures from around the globe. With the leadership of a Registered Dietitian, your instruction includes nutrition science and culinary expertise in a cross-disciplinary lecture approach. During the mini foods labs you’ll be introduced to distinct foods, flavors, preparation methods and culinary skills including food safety. The online experience is an opportunity to participate in topics like Food and Religion, Food as Medicine, Food as Social Status, Food Sustainability and many other topics fundamental to understanding the importance of food around the world. Peer mentoring is a learning/teaching style by which students share cultural history, cultural exposure and cultural importance through student presentations, restaurant reviews, interviews and collaboration in the Foods Lab. Come prepared to use all of your senses as you explore cultures, customs, politics, religions, foods and important cultural literacy considerations that will be important to your future as you become better acquainted with your local and global community.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

By the end of the course, you will be able to:

1. Students will be able to create a description of a cultural culinary experience that is unique to their past experiences by observing and documenting distinctions in food presentation.
2. Students will construct a skill set that includes cultural understanding, food practices, food preparation methods, food safety, and food budgeting.
3. Students will categorize cultural distinctions by food, cultural practices, geography, politics, economics and natural resources.
4. Students will compare international and transnational differences and similarities in foods, cultures, geography, religion, economics, and language.
5. Students will examine the cross-border phenomena as it evolves through language, politics, trade, food, war and geography.

6. Students will explore historical and contemporary food and cultural practices and their relevance to current social events and issues.

7. Students will participate in interdisciplinary problem solving and an increased awareness of cultural and social literacy both in the local community and the global community.

TEACHING AND LEARNING METHODS

The course focuses on material from the required textbook with additional resources on Canvas such as chapter outlines and supplemental material that is relevant to the material presented in the text. It is recommended that students read the assigned for each specified week. Doing so will create a foundation for course material and will allow you to follow the lectures more easily. The calendar has suggestions for what chapters you should be covering as well as all due dates. Be comfortable with Canvas! You are responsible for getting on the site and learning how to navigate it.

POLICIES

- All assignments are due in class unless the assigned date is after the week-long intensive course date. Late assignments are graded at 50% after the due date up to 3 days.
- All assignments are to be uploaded onto Canvas by 11:59 pm of the due date. Do not bring a hard copy to class. It is your responsibility to get assignments uploaded so that if you run into technical difficulties you have time to deal with the issue. Technical difficulties will not be an acceptable excuse for late assignments. In the event you are not able to upload something, you can always email it to the instructors (via Canvas email).
- Do your own work, do not collaborate with your classmates, unless specifically told to do so.
- Individual assignments showing signs of plagiarism will be given a zero and may fail the course.
- All students are expected to maintain professional behavior in the online classroom setting, according to the Student Code, spelled out in the Student Handbook. The Code also specifies proscribed conduct (Article XI) that involves cheating on tests, plagiarism, and/or collusion, as well as fraud, theft, etc. Students should read the Code carefully and know they are responsible for the content. According to Faculty Rules and Regulations, it is the faculty responsibility to enforce responsible online classroom behaviors, and I will do so, beginning with verbal warnings and progressing to dismissal from and class and a failing grade. Students have the right to appeal such action to the Student Behavior Committee.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

1. Major assignments (30%):
   1. Individual food culture presentation - students will give a five-minute class presentation on how food influences their personal identity and/or culture(s). This presentation will be basic public speaking, meaning you will speak using a virtual presentation method available in Canvas. The focus is on how you define your identity and/or the culture(s) to which you belong and how food fits into this identity and/or these cultures (75 pts).

2. Critical book analysis: students will select one of the book choices identified in the critical book analysis book list. Students will then use the questions posed in the critical book analysis sheet to think critically about how the content of the book relates to what is being addressed in the course (75 pts).

3. Food and culture labs: students will complete 2 foods labs at home using the recipes provided by the instructor; students will then answer to the specific questions that pertain to that food lab and post their responses on Canvas (60 pts, 2 x 30 pts each).

4. Group project - in groups of 4-6, students will prepare a 20-25 minute virtual presentation exploring a food tradition that they have observed, experienced and/or read about. The presentation will be uploaded onto Canvas for classmates to review. Students will have to submit a proposal (20 pts), paper (75 pts), presentation (75 pts), and peer evaluation (2 x 15 pts each) as part of this assignment.

2. Weekly module activities (20%): There will be small weekly assignments completed on Canvas that pertain to the topic being covered that week.

3. Minor assignments (20%):
   1. Discussions - there will be 2 discussions throughout the semester that will focus on the material covered the week of the discussion. Students will be required to make at least one original post that is at least 4 to 5 sentences; students will have to respond to at least 2 posts of other students which are at least 2 to 3 sentences in length (2 x 25 pts each, 50 pts total).
   2. Restaurant review - students will select an ethnic restaurant in the community and write a three-page restaurant review which includes specific information on the restaurant, location, first impression, menu, décor, wait staff, description of foods selected, assessment of the quality of food, the quantity of food and presentation of food. There will be a restaurant takeout and recipe review alternative if desired (30 pts).

4. Exams (30%) There will be 2 exams that are not cumulative; one will cover the material addressed in the first half of the semester; the second will cover material covered in the second half of the semester. Each exam is worth 75 pts (150 pts total).

Mandatory Reporter:
Duty to Notify: As a University representative, most faculty, staff, and teaching assistants (other than professional mental health counselors) are required to report information learned about instances of sexual misconduct, discrimination, and/or immediate threats to safety to the University of Utah Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action and/or the Office of the Dean of Students.

If you do choose to disclose instances of sexual misconduct, discrimination, or violence to me, please be aware that I am a mandatory reporter and am required by University policies to notify the appropriate Office.

Online courses require significant self-motivation. Online courses are different than on-campus courses and online learning is not ideal for everyone. Some lessons take a considerable amount of time to complete. Please note that not all modules are created equal. Some may take a bit more time than others. Some people believe this to be a much easier way to study this subject than in the on-campus framework. Others may feel very intimidated at first. Be patient as you work your way through the first few modules. If you are serious about the material, you will learn as much as, if not more than, most on-campus students about this subject and develop reading and communication skills that are vital to the workforce of the 21st century.

- Electronic or equipment failure: It is your responsibility to maintain your computer and related equipment in order to participate in the online nature of the course.
- Document archiving: You are responsible for making sure your assignments, including attachments, are received before the deadline. Students are also responsible for ensuring that the documents submitted are the correct document to be graded.
- Naming conventions and software type: You are responsible for submitting the assignment with the required naming convention, correct file extension, and using the software type and version required for the assignment. See assignment instructions for acceptable formats.
- Classroom equivalency: Discussion threads, e-mails, and chat rooms are all considered to be equivalent to classrooms, and student behavior within those environments shall conform to the University of Utah Student Code. Specifically:
  - Posting photos or comments that would be off-topic in a classroom are still off-topic in an online posting.
  - Off-color language and photos are never appropriate.
  - Using angry or abusive language is called "flaming", is not acceptable, and will be dealt with according to the Student Code.
  - Course e-mails, e-journals, and other online course communications are part of the classroom and as such, are University property and subject to GRAMA regulations and the Student Code. Privacy regarding these communications between correspondents must not be assumed and should be mutually agreed upon in advance, in writing.

UNIVERSITY POLICIES

DROP/WITHDRAWAL POLICIES

Students may drop a course within the first two weeks of a given semester without any penalties. Students may officially withdraw (W) from a class or all classes after the drop deadline through the midpoint of a course. A “W” grade is recorded on the transcript and appropriate tuition/fees are assessed. The grade “W” is not used in calculating the student’s GPA. For deadlines to withdraw from full-term, first, and second session classes, see the U’s Academic Calendar.

PLAGIARISM & CHEATING

It is assumed that all work submitted to your instructor is your own work. When you have used ideas of others, you must properly indicate that you have done so. Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses and may be punished by failure on an individual assignment, and/or failure in the course. Academic misconduct, according to the University of Utah Student Code,

“...Includes, but is not limited to, cheating, misrepresenting one’s work, inappropriately collaborating, plagiarism, and fabrication or falsification of information...It also includes facilitating academic misconduct by intentionally helping or attempting to help another to commit an act of academic misconduct.”
For details on plagiarism and other important course conduct issues, see the U's Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities (http://regulations.utah.edu/academics/6-400.php).

SAFETY AT THE U

ADDRESSING SEXUAL MISCONDUCT
Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender (which includes sexual orientation and gender identity/expression) is a civil rights offense subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories such as race, national origin, color, religion, age, status as a person with a disability, veteran’s status, or genetic information. If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted, you are encouraged to report it to university officials:

UNDOCUMENTED STUDENTS
Immigration is a complex phenomenon with broad impact—those who are directly affected by it, as well as those who are indirectly affected by their relationships with family members, friends, and loved ones. If your immigration status presents obstacles that prevent you from engaging in specific activities or fulfilling specific course criteria, confidential arrangements may be requested from the Dream Center.

Arrangements with the Dream Center will not jeopardize your student status, your financial aid, or any other part of your residence. The Dream Center offers a wide range of resources to support undocumented students (with and without DACA) as well as students from mixed-status families. For more information about what support they provide and links to other resources, view their website or contact:
LGBTQ+ STUDENTS
The LGBTQ+ Resource Center acts in accountability with the campus community by identifying the needs of people with a queer range of [a]gender and [a]sexual experiences and responding with university-wide services. INCLUSIVITY AT THE U
The Office for Inclusive Excellence is here to engage, support, and advance an environment fostering the values of respect, diversity, equity, inclusivity, and academic excellence for students in our increasingly global campus community. They also handle reports of bias in the classroom as outlined below:

Bias or hate incidents consist of speech, conduct, or some other form of expression or action that is motivated wholly or in part by prejudice or bias whose impact discriminates, demeans, embarrasses, assigns stereotypes, harasses, or excludes individuals because of their race, color, ethnicity, national origin, language, sex, size, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, disability, age, or religion.
