REQUIRED TEXT:

Textbook: Kittler, Sucher, and Nelms - Food and Culture, 7th edition. eBook ISBN-10: 1337247499; ISBN-13: 9781337247498. This book is eligible for the University's Inclusive Access Program through the University bookstore. The book is integrated into Canvas. Student cost is ~$28

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course provides a unique opportunity to explore food and cultures from around the globe. With the leadership of a Registered Dietitian, your instruction includes nutrition science and culinary expertise in a cross-disciplinary lecture approach. During the labs you'll be introduced to distinct foods, flavors, preparation methods and culinary skills including food safety. The classroom experience is an opportunity to participate in topics like Food and Religion, Food as Medicine, Food as Social Status, Food Sustainability and many other topics fundamental to understanding the importance of food around the world.

Peer mentoring is a learning/teaching style by which students share cultural history, cultural exposure and cultural importance through student presentations, restaurant reviews, and class discussions. Come prepared to use all of your senses as you explore cultures, customs, politics, religions, foods and important cultural literacy considerations that will be important to your future as you become better acquainted with your local and global community.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES:

By the end of the course, you will be able to:

1. By completing a written restaurant review, students will be able to create a description of a cultural culinary experience that is unique to their past experiences by observing and documenting distinctions in food, culture, décor, tradition, and presentation.

Syllabus

2. By completing independent cultural food labs, students will construct a skill set that includes cultural understanding, food practices, food preparation methods, food safety, and food budgeting.
3. By synthesizing a media presentation on a specific culture, students will categorize cultural distinctions by food, cultural practices, geography, politics, economics and natural resources.
4. By attending lectures on Food and Religion, students will compare international and transnational differences and similarities in foods, cultures, geography, religion, economics, and language.
5. By attending lectures on Food Needs, students will examine the cross-border phenomena as it evolves through language, politics, trade, food, war and geography.
6. By attending lectures on Food and Health, students will explore historical and contemporary food and cultural practices and their relevance to current social events and issues.
7. By attending lectures on Food, Connectivity and Sustainability, students will participate in interdisciplinary problem solving and an increased awareness of cultural and social literacy both in the local community and the global community.

TEACHING AND LEARNING METHODS

The course focuses on material from the required textbook with additional resources on Canvas such as chapter outlines and supplemental material that is relevant to the material presented in the text. Students should read the assigned readings prior to coming to class. Doing so will create a foundation for course material and will allow you to follow the lectures more easily.

Be comfortable with Canvas! You are responsible for getting on the site and learning how to navigate it.

POLICIES

- All students must wear a face mask and follow all University required COVID-19 precautions.
- All assignments are due in class unless the assigned date is after the week-long intensive course date. Late assignments are graded at 50% after the due date up to 3 days.
- All assignments are to be uploaded onto Canvas by 11:59pm of the due date. Do not bring a hard copy to class. It is your responsibility to get assignments uploaded so that if you run into technical difficulties you have time to deal with the issue. Technical difficulties will not be an acceptable excuse for late assignments. In the event you are not able to upload something, you can always email it to the instructors (via Canvas email).
- Do your own work, only collaborate with your classmates if specifically told to do so.
- Assignments showing signs of plagiarism will be given a zero and may fail the course.
- All students are expected to maintain professional behavior in the classroom setting, according to the Student Code, spelled out in the Student Handbook. Students have specific rights in the classroom as detailed in Article III of the Code. The Code also specifies proscribed conduct (Article XI) that involves cheating on tests, plagiarism, and/or collusion, as well as fraud, theft, etc. Students should read the Code carefully and know they are responsible for the content. According to Faculty Rules and Regulations, it is the faculty responsibility to enforce responsible classroom behaviors, and I will do so, beginning with verbal warnings and progressing to dismissal from and class and a failing grade. Students have the right to appeal such action to the Student Behavior Committee.

Syllabus

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

- 1. Restaurant Review: (10%) students will select an ethnic restaurant in the community and write a 2-3 page restaurant review which includes specific information on the restaurant, location, first impression, menu, décor, wait staff, description of foods selected, assessment of the quality of food, the quantity of food and presentation of food. There will be a restaurant takeout and recipe review alternative if desired.
- 2. Daily Quizzes: (20%) There will be a quiz at the beginning of each class (Monday-Friday) that will be based upon the reading assignments. Quizzes will be completed on Canvas and so a computer or app will be needed each day in class.
- 3. Individual Presentation: (10%): Students will give a five-minute class presentation on how food influences their personal identity and/or culture(s). This presentation will be basic public speaking, meaning you will get up in front of the class and speak (not present a PowerPoint or other digital/technological platform presentation) about how you define your identity and/or the culture(s) to which you belong and how food fits into this identity and/or these cultures. Students will work with the instructor to determine the date of presentation.
- 4. Group Presentation: (25%) In groups of 3-5, students will prepare a 20-25-minute class presentation exploring the food culture of a specific region (to be assigned in class). Students will work with the instructor to determine the date and style of presentation
- 5. Final Summary Paper: (10%) Students will be asked to write a final paper that synthesizes the information they have learned from the course. Students will use information they gather through daily reflections to create a summary of their individual food culture. This paper will be due two weeks after class ends on Canvas.
- 6. Class assignments (25%) Throughout the week there will be various in class assignments that will include class presentations and submission to Canvas assignments. These various assignments will be worth 25% of the total grade.

Mandatory Reporter:

Duty to Notify: As a University representative, most faculty, staff, and teaching assistants (other than professional mental health counselors) are required to report information learned about instances of sexual misconduct, discrimination, and/or immediate threats to safety to the University of Utah Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action and/or the Office of the Dean of Students.

Syllabus

If you do choose to disclose instances of sexual misconduct, discrimination, or violence to me, please be aware that I am a mandatory reporter and am required by University policies to notify the appropriate Office.

- Electronic or equipment failure: It is your responsibility to maintain your computer and related equipment in order to participate in the online nature of the course.
- Document archiving: You are responsible for making sure your assignments, including attachments, are received before the deadline. Students are also responsible for ensuring that the documents submitted are the correct document to be graded.
- Naming conventions and software type: You are responsible for submitting the assignment with the required naming convention, correct file extension, and using the software type and version required for the assignment. See assignment instructions for acceptable formats.
- Classroom equivalency: Discussion threads, e-mails, and chat rooms are all considered to be equivalent to classrooms, and student behavior within those environments shall conform to the University of Utah Student Code. Specifically:
 - Posting photos or comments that would be off-topic in a classroom are still off-topic in an online posting.
 - Off-color language and photos are never appropriate.
 - Using angry or abusive language is called "flaming", is not acceptable, and will be dealt with according to the Student Code.
 - Course e-mails, e-journals, and other online course communications are part of the classroom and as such, are University property and subject to GRAMA regulations and the Student Code. Privacy regarding these communications between correspondents must not be assumed and should be mutually agreed upon in advance, in writing.

UNIVERSITY POLICIES

DROP/WITHDRAWAL POLICIES

Students may drop a course within the first two weeks of a given semester without any penalties. Students may officially withdraw (W) from a class or all classes after the drop deadline through the midpoint of a course. A "W" grade is recorded on the transcript and appropriate tuition/fees are assessed. The grade "W" is not used in calculating the student's GPA. For deadlines to withdraw from full-term, first, and second session classes, see the U's Academic Calendar (<https://registrar.utah.edu/academic-calendars/index.php>).

PLAGIARISM & CHEATING

It is assumed that all work submitted to your instructor is your own work. When you have used ideas of others, you must properly indicate that you have done so. Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses and may be punished by failure on an individual assignment, and/or failure in the course. Academic misconduct, according to the University of Utah Student Code,

"...Includes, but is not limited to, cheating, misrepresenting one's work, inappropriately collaborating, plagiarism, and fabrication or falsification of information...It also includes facilitating academic misconduct by intentionally helping or attempting to help another to commit an act of academic misconduct."

For details on plagiarism and other important course conduct issues, see the U's Code of Student

UNDOCUMENTED STUDENTS

Immigration is a complex phenomenon with broad impact—those who are directly affected by it, as well as those who are indirectly affected by their relationships with family members, friends, and loved ones. If your immigration status presents obstacles that prevent you from engaging in specific activities or fulfilling specific course criteria, confidential arrangements may be requested from the Dream Center.

Arrangements with the Dream Center will not jeopardize your student status, your financial aid, or any other part of your residence. The Dream Center offers a wide range of resources to support undocumented students (with and without DACA) as well as students from mixed-status families. INCLUSIVITY AT THE U

The Office for Inclusive Excellence is here to engage, support, and advance an environment fostering the values of respect, diversity, equity, inclusivity, and academic excellence for students in our increasingly global campus community. They also handle reports of bias in the classroom as outlined below:

Bias or hate incidents consist of speech, conduct, or some other form of expression or action that is motivated wholly or in part by prejudice or bias whose impact discriminates, demeans, embarrasses, assigns stereotypes, harasses, or excludes individuals because of their race, color, ethnicity, national origin, language, sex, size, gender identity or expression, sexual orientation, disability, age, or religion.
