

DISAB 5880/GNDR 5880/GNDR 6880 BAD BODIES: GENDER AND DISABILITY

COURSE TYPE: Online
LOCATION: Canvas
SEMESTER: Spring 2021

PROFESSOR: Dr. Angela Smith
EMAIL: ang.smith@utah.edu

This course will

- Introduce students to, or expand their knowledge in, disability studies
- Examine intersections amongst disability and gender, race/ ethnicity, class, and sexuality
- Ask how bodyminds often considered “bad” can also be understood as defiant and resistant
- Study how disabled people have been and continue to be marginalized
- Discover how the ideas and practices of disability scholars, activists, and artists are remapping how we think about and experience gender, identity, and humanity

For questions or more information, contact: ang.smith@utah.edu