Course Objective and Outcomes
The primary objective of this course is to learn the economic rationale behind financial instruments, banking, and central banking.

By the end of the semester, you should be able to understand how monetary policy affects interest rates, asset markets such as the bond market, and the macroeconomy.

University Policies
1. The Americans with Disabilities Act. The University of Utah seeks to provide equal access to its programs, services, and activities for people with disabilities. If you will need accommodations in this class, reasonable prior notice needs to be given to the Center for Disability Services, 162 Olpin Union Building, (801) 581-5020. CDS will work with you and the instructor to make arrangements for accommodations. All written information in this course can be made available in an alternative format with prior notification to the Center for Disability Services.

2. Addressing Sexual Misconduct. Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender (which includes sexual orientation and gender identity/expression) is a civil rights offense subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories such as race, national origin, color, religion, age, status as a person with a disability, veteran's status or genetic information. If you or someone you know has been harasssed or assaulted, you are encouraged to report it to the Title IX Coordinator in the Office of Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action, 135 Park Building, 801-581-8365, or the Office of the Dean of Students, 270 Union Building, 801-581-7066. For support and confidential consultation, contact the Center for Student Wellness, 426 SSB, 801-581-7776. To report to the police, contact the Department of Public Safety, 801-585-2677 (COPS).

Expectations and Course Policies
Teaching will mainly consist of lecture and discussions. Each week you are expected to study the textbook and lecture slides and check Canvas for lecture slides, take-home quizzes, assignments, and announcements.

Cheating: Turning in work that is not your own is an act of cheating. Any act of cheating will result in a failing grade (zero points) on the exam, quiz, or assignment. Any subsequent act of cheating will result in a failing grade for the course.
